

122732 Anneth Moses

Multimedia Assignment

Strathmore University

The goal for this project was to create a simple site that show cases my skills and a brief description of myself. The main challenge that I faced was creating interactivity within the website, given my limited knowledge of JavaScript. But it also offered an opportunity to learn new and not so new areas of web design. Another challenge would be providing links or images to some projects. This challenge arises due to absence of these resources locally and in the cloud.

For the choice of the design, I included a navigation bar to enhance user experience when navigating the page. It contains links to the different pages that describe more of who I am. The body of the website contains the description of what the pages are for and links to resources which serve as evidence to what I mention within. The images included also serve to support what is mentioned in the various pages.

The resources to the project can be accessed through the GitHub link, or access the live website through this link:

<https://anneth01.github.io/Multimedia/>